Pertinent Paragraphs

Tomorrow—a fateful day in the history of the California Prune and Apricot Growers association. Unless the requisite number of producers have signed up by tomorrow the growers' marketing association will bite the dust—die—expire—cease to function, or what have you. It seems to us that every possible argument in favor of the association has been advanced in a manner intelligible to even the lowest grade moron. Indeed, so well have these arguments been presented that we will make no attempt here to better them. Eugene V. Debbs said: "If I could make American labor think, I could put them in power over night." The same thing applies to the present situation in the growers' organization. Think, ladies and gentlemen, before you let tomorrow pass without becoming a member of the California Prune and Apricot Growers association.

If you do think, you will arrive at only one conclusion—and you tongue will be added to the records of the growers' organization.

A spot or two of rain this week should serve to brighten things up a bit. The amount of rainfall may not have been great, but every little bit helps.

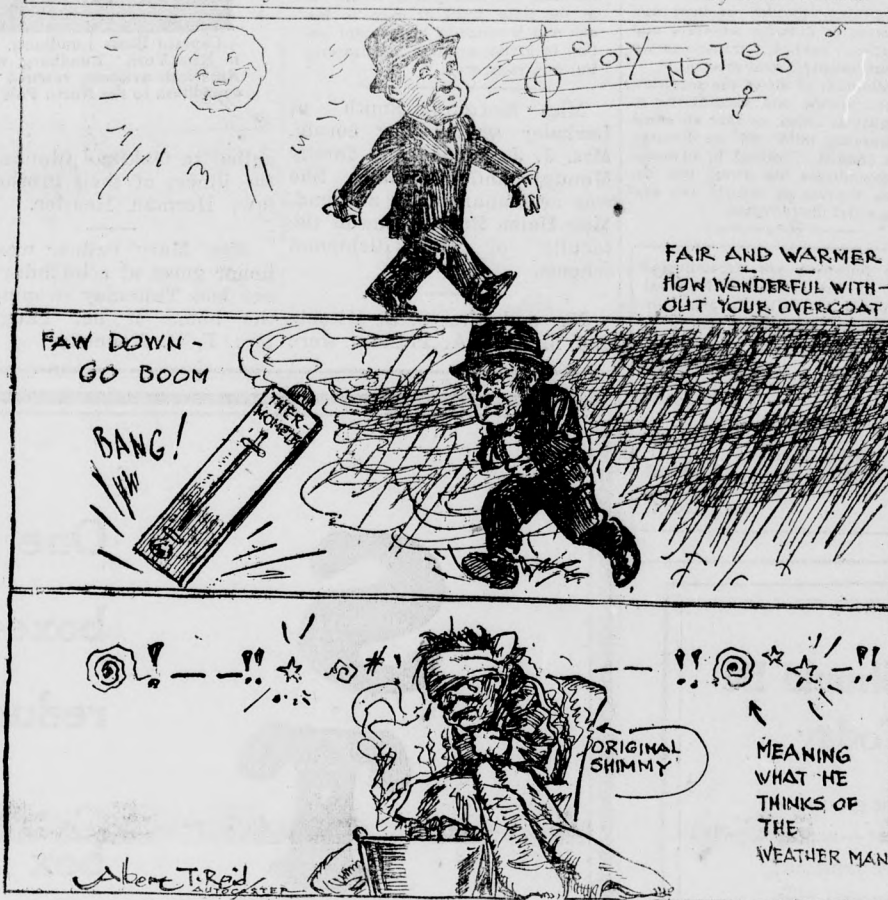

Already we have heard the annual complaint that the apricot crop will be very light. A good story—but more often than not proved incorrect. Old timers have told us within the past few days that "cots" are thicker than fleas on a mongrel's back. Cheer up—and loosen up. Business is only as tough as we make it.

Did you ever think of the effect of psychology on "modern" business? In a presidential election year money is always tight. Why? There is apparently no good reason. From away back, that has been the popular tradition and today it still holds good. A report is circulated, true or otherwise, that the "crop"—any crop—is going to be poor, and what happens? Money tightens up, business slows down and good sensible men run around with their faces drooping down upon their chests. And after the harvest we find, usually, that we were in error, and then we curse the loss of golden opportunity—passed by when the purse strings were tightened by the rumor that the "crop" would be light.

We are in a critical mood today, and another thing to come under our disapproving eye is this: "Campbell," for the name of a California town, is not so hot. For the Campbell family, past and present, we have nothing but the most profound respect. But "Campbell," as the name of this lovely little town, is altogether another matter. Surrounded by towns of picturesque name, "Campbell" becomes an unattractive oddity. "Orchard City," a name long ago given to our town by the then local correspondent for a San Jose newspaper, is much more fitting—more than ever so since every expansion of the village necessitates the uprooting of or-

KIWANIS NOTES

The Boy-Girl club house campaign is on in earnest and the new home for our young boys and girls is practically assured. This was the gist of Ralph Hydes remarks at the Tuesday Kiwanis luncheon when he stated that pledges had already been secured for almost $1,800. The workers are hoping to complete the campaign within the week. The hearty thanks of the club was voted to R. H. Knappen, who donated a page advertisement in the Press of last issue.

Many of our citizens who have been unable to buy complete pledges have come forward with donations within their means and these sums are very acceptable. All see the good of such a movement and are glad to help.

Royal Page was given his initiatory instructions in the objective of Kiwanis by Past President T. A. Cutting, who also welcomed him to membership.

The Rev. Hugh Hamilton of Los Gatos gave some very sound philosophy on the timely topic, "Stake Driving." This treatise he had given before a group of preachers and the yhad survived so he thought to try it on a service club—which club is the better for having heard it. Taking his text from Isaiah, "enlarge your tents, lengthen your ropes and strengthen your stakes," he applied it to the chard trees.

Other towns have waited until the family of the founder of that particular community have passed away or moved away before they have made a move to change its name to something more suitable to the country. Campbell would do well to take this step while descendants of its founder are yet alive to fix their approval to the change. The benefit to the community is apparent—and we can recall no Campbell who ever stood in the way of the development of his community.

That's all.

present day living problems. The country has enlarged its tents and lengthened its ropes in many modern ways but the stakes are beginning to loosen in some places. One of the most noticeable failings is the growing disrespect for law. The breaking down of home ties is another.

In some parts of the country groups are already set about to aid in strengthening these weak spots. Kiwanis and other service clubs are doing much to create a deeper interest in community life and welfare.

OFFICERS OF LOCAL W. C. T. U. NAMED AT MARCH MEET

At a recent meeting of the Campbell W. C. T. U., held at the home of Mrs. E. D. Hubbell officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Mrs. Effie D. Hubbell, president; Mrs. Catherine Farley, vice president-at-large; Mrs. Mary F. Parkhill, first vice president; Mrs. Belle F. Righter, second vice president; Mrs. A. S. B. Byrnes, third vice president; Mrs. Olive Treat, secretary; Mrs. Ida R. Newcombe, treasurer, and F. S. Newcombe, auditor.

COUNTRY WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The Country Woman's club at its business session Monday elected Mrs. G. E. Jeffers and Mrs. A. W. Wellington to membership.

A nominating committee including Mesdames C. A. Sutter, C. H. Whitman, A. W. Johnson, G. E. Farley and E. R. Kennedy was elected, to present the names of five members for directors, to be voted upon at the annual meeting in May.

The program committee, Mrs. Lilian Voge, chairman, Mrs. H. M. Shadle and Mrs. G. W. Page, had secured the Rev. J. H. Bennett to speak on "The New Psychology."

Mr. Bennett's talk revealed a comprehensive knowledge and a careful study of the subject, condensing in an hour's lecture the salient points of so vast a field.

Beginning with a definition of psychology he explained that new psychology was in reality analytical psychology, in which great advances were made during the world war and since its close, in the study of so-called shell shock victims.

Old psychology dealt with the normal mind and the new deals with the abnormal.

In dealing with mature minds it involves the study of inhibitions, complexes and problems for the psychoanalyst, who, if a conscientious, God-fearing, highly sympathetic individual, can do wonderful things in finding the causes of abnormalities and reducing them to normalities.

The exposition was very interesting, stimulating and helpful and should create a greater interest in so invaluable a subject.

The Mervyn Keesling family orchestra, which has been in great demand since they were heard Feb. 22, very graciously favored the club with several selections. Mr. Bennett said that these children exemplified the principles of modern education—"interest develops attention and attention develops control."

100,000 GALLON WATER TANK WILL GRACE THE CALIFORNIA CANNERY

Plans have been perfected for the erection of a 100,000 gallon water tank on a 100-foot steel tower on the California Canneries company property in Campbell. Work will soon be started on the foundation, which will be just north of the main building.

This tank will be used only as auxiliary supply and pressure for fire protection. A modern sprinkler system will be installed throughout the plant.

Superintendent J. O. Dempsey is now directing the work of getting the plant in readiness for what he believes will be the biggest year in the history of the house.

BIG CLASS RIDES GOAT AT I. O. O. F. PARTY LAST NITE

DISTRICT MEETING I.O.O.F. SLATED FOR

Tomorrow night, Saturday, April 6, at 8 o'clock, the Odd Fellow lodges composing district no. 20 will hold their regular district meeting in the Campbell grammar school auditorium. District Deputy Grand Master Julius Bachman will preside.

Several prominent speakers of the order will be on hand and the entertainment of the evening will be furnished by the staff of KGO, Oakland broadcasting station. A 30-piece band will also be heard. Ali Odd Fellows and Rebekah's are requested to be present to enjoy the festivities.

GRAMMAR P. T. A.

The regular meeting was held in the kindergarten room Tuesday afternoon, April 2, at 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. Rice, president, presiding.

After a brief business session at which two pledges of $12 each for the Boy Scout-Camp Fire building were purchased, final plans for a card party to be held April 11, were discussed.

Tickets are in charge of Mrs. Blunt and may be secured at the school. Mrs. Rice has charge of refreshments. Cake, sandwiches and coffee will be served.

Mrs. Stanley Smith, preschool chairman, had charge of Tuesday's program. She introduced Dr. W. I. Merrill, who gave a most instructive talk on "Health in the Home." The lecture was followed by a general discussion. Mrs. Barrett, school nurse, then instructed mothers how to administer home remedies and first aid treatments. She laid special emphasis on the care of minor hurts, which often develop into serious trouble.

Refreshments were in the hands of teachers and proved out of the ordinary for P. T. A. teas.

San Jose, April 4.—The 12 cities of Santa Clara county will each be given an opportunity to have the queen of the Fiesta de las Rosas chosen from their community, it was announced yesterday following a meeting of the general committee.

Arrangements will be made with civic organizations at Palo Alto, Gilroy, Sunnyvale, Campbell, Los Gatos, Morgan Hill, Mountain View, Santa Clara, Saratoga, Los Altos and San Jose to select queen candidates.

Herman Kersken, California theater manager, San Jose, was appointed by A. M. Mortensen, general chairman of the fiesta, as chairman of the queen contest. Kersken outlined the plan of selection which he declares has proved practical in similar problems confronting other California cities.

The king, who will be one of the foremost film stars, will ride on the title float with the queen in the parade on May 18. In the evening the royal pair will attend the inaugural ball which will be held in the Auditorium rink.

Five candidates or more will be chosen from these, the winner in each community to be judged at a dance or other celebration between May 6 and 10, according to Kersken's plan.

On the Saturday preceding the fiesta the 12 winning candidates will attend the "queen's ball" in San Jose. A group of judges, to be selected from among prominent men and women and well-known artists in Santa Clara county, will name the queen at the climax of the ball.

LEASE THEATER FOR SHOW NEXT WEEK

The Campbell theater has been rented to the Rebekah lodge for its benefit show to be staged Wednesday and Thursday, April 10 and 11.

The main feature will be "Sorrow and Son." There will also be a two-reel comedy and Vaudine Putnam Saunders will entertain with some of her clever little dancers.

The program committee is composed of Ellen Snow, Ernest Snow, Josephine La Barbara, Hazel McQueen, Hugo Bloom and Al Covey.

Tickets are available from anyone on the committee or phone Campbell 135-W.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Clendenning have been visiting the grange in Ukiah and Pomona grange at Napa. Mrs. Clendenning is lecturer for the state grange, which necessitates many visits throughout the state.

RED CROSS CHAPTERS STRENGTHEN FORCES FOR DISASTER RELIEF

Launch National Campaign to Perfect Preparedness Plans in Every Community.

A nation-wide campaign to strengthen plans for preparedness against disaster and for emergency relief has been launched by the American Red Cross through its Chapters. The program is intended to perfect disaster preparedness committees in the ten thousand communities reached by Red Cross Chapters and their branches.

When carried out, through committees of men and women in the community, it will insure that should a disaster come, an organization for emergency relief, including every modern method science has perfected—such as the radio, the airplane, the motor car and watercraft—can be mobilized to bring assistance, with the promptitude applied by the Red Cross in recent major disasters, such as the West Indies hurricane and the Mississippi Valley flood.

These enlarged and strengthened plans for disaster relief are set forth in the revised Red Cross manual, "When Disaster Strikes," which has been placed in the hands of every Red Cross chairman throughout the nation. The plan to encourage adoption of these added disaster preparedness methods was begun at this time because Red Cross records—covering 48 years of disaster relief—show that the period of the greatest number of disasters, large and small, ranges from the early Spring through the early Fall.

The Record of 48 Years

A historical summary of Red Cross disaster relief since 1882, shows that the society was active in giving relief in 938 domestic disasters and its expenditures in those relief operations, were $49,594,000. The three groups of calamities appearing most frequently were: cyclones, tornadoes, hurricanes and other storms, 251; fires, 191; floods, 126.

During this period, the Red Cross also has given assistance to distressed peoples of other countries in 153 disasters. Total expenditures for relief at home and throughout the world, in 48 years, amount to $77,354,000.

In the four most recent major disasters, among the greatest which have ever visited the American continent, Red Cross expenditures for relief totalled $29,188,908. Only in the event of large disasters such as the Florida hurricane of 1926, the Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, the New England flood of the same Fall, and the West Indies hurricane of 1928, does the Red Cross seek contributions from the general public for relief work; and frequently these are not ample, as in the four disasters listed, the Red Cross donated $1,338,201 from its own treasury to aid in the work. In the event of smaller disasters, the cost of the relief is met largely from Red Cross resources.

The GENERAL TIRE
to make friends

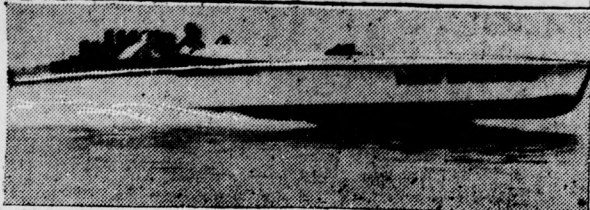

With traffic becoming more of a problem every day, safety is a vital factor. Traffic is heavier, streets are smoother and safety is essential if we are to decrease the daily casualty list. The General tread grips the road with a double grip and broader traction—furnishing double protection against skidding. General's tread design is the result of engineering research and gives the maximum traction properly combined with long-wearing qualities. That is why Generals give you the greatest protection.

No Community Immune

No community is immune to great disasters of one type or another, the manual shows. One preparedness measure that can be adopted is a survey of the surrounding country, with the assistance of engineers and other experts to determine the type of disaster to which the section is subject. Hazards resulting from the presence of rivers and lakes, subject to overflow, of mines, munition factories, and other industries wherein dangers from explosion and fires may exist, are singled out for consideration.

Extension of existing disaster organizations in communities, and organization of men and women, trained in public health and community service, will result in the saving of lives and the prevention of extensive suffering, through privation, epidemic and other misfortune, should emergency arise through disaster. These organization plans, outlined in the manual, are similar to those now existing in most Red Cross Chapters, only strengthened in some particulars. They contemplate disaster preparedness and relief committees, under which function sub-committees on food, clothing, shelter, medical aid, registration of disaster sufferers and information service, transportation and communication and finance.

Co-ordination of all of the societies, organized groups and institutions in the locality is urged, so that all effort for emergency relief will be directed without conflict. Trained in advance, these committees can swing into action, and provide an orderly and systematic relief organization.

The following are expenditures made by the American National Red Cross for relief in the four most recent major disasters:

Florida hurricane, 1926	$4,477,170.07
Mississippi Valley flood, 1927	17,498,902.16
New England flood, 1927	1,209,773.93
West Indies hurricane, 1928	5,915,062.47
	$29,188,908.63

FIRST-AID TRAINING SAVES SHOCK VICTIM

Charles Butcher, of Lockhart, Miss., is alive today because J. J. Gartman, section lineman of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was skilled in first aid work, having taken the course offered telephone employees throughout the country. Butcher and his cousin were riding along the street in an automobile when a loose wire hanging from a street arc light struck him about the head and shoulders. He was instantly rendered unconscious through contact with a live wire, but the telephone lineman, who was passing in his car at the time, went at once to his aid, and because of his prompt action in giving artificial respiration, Butcher recovered.

NATURE'S BALANCE.
THE PRICE FOR PICTURES.
EINSTEIN PUZZLE.
THE "FIVE AND TEN" LAW.

It is dangerous to interfere with nature's balance, one thing killing others, all kept in bounds. Yakima County, Washington, offered a bounty to exterminate hawks and owls, and thousands were killed, to protect game birds and poultry.

Investigation by government experts, examining hawk and owl interiors, found that the birds lived on snakes, grasshoppers, field mice and ground squirrels, all dangerous to man—especially the ground squirrels that spread bubonic plague.

Yakima has withdrawn the bounty. Kill off coyotes and foxes and you encourage a plague of field mice and jack rabbits. Montana made that discovery. The wise plan is to destroy the objectionable creatures by scientific means. Get rid of small vermin and the bigger nuisances will disappear.

When we see news films we rarely realize the risks run by cameramen. Those risks are great and occasionally death proves it.

At Daytona, Florida, Mr. Bible, trying for a new automobile speed record, was instantly killed when his car was going 202 miles an hour.

The crowd stood well back, watching the race, but Charles Traub, grinding a newsreel camera, knew it was his duty to show the machine, traveling four miles a minute, coming head-on. He stood with his camera planted slightly to one side of the straight course. When the driver lost control the car leaped and rolled.

It was too late for Traub to save himself. His dead body was laid out beside that of the driver. That is the price paid sometimes for news pictures.

Professor Einstein, fifty years old, retired with his wife from public view, to think about relativity and the fourth dimension, and wonder why people make such a fuss over him.

He is especially amazed at the great interest in his discoveries in the United States. And he well may be. Not ten men in the United States understand them.

What Will Rogers calls the "Five and Ten" prohibition law, five years in jail and $10,000 fine went into effect in Chicago, and the first man caught in the Jones net was Carl Mahanke, a policeman. The Chicago federal district attorney expects 250 indictments per month.

Impressive figures prove that the radio has come to stay with a vengeance. During 1928 retail sales of radio apparatus totaled $70,877, $17.

The extent to which radio has transformed human life and enlarged its possibilities is understood as little as the importance of printing was understood when Gutenberg began setting up his movable type.

Printing opened all the knowledge of the world to everybody that could read.

Radio offers the speeches, music and information of the world to everybody able to listen.

"Inside Talk"

The tire trade has its "inside talk" the same as any other.

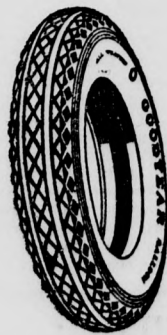

Just now that talk is all of Goodyear—and the terrific pace Goodyear is setting for the field.

The reason that Goodyear is stepping out ahead of everybody else in the tire business comes right down to the product.

Right now, and for years past, Goodyear prices, values and quality have had it over all the other tire-makers like a tent.

This is no secret in the trade—it's common knowledge.

The hint may be valuable to you the next time you need tires.

Facts About the Telephone

Telephone service has been opened between Roumania and Bulgaria.

New telephone wire, in the United States, is being added at the rate of about 10 miles a minute.

The first telephone exchange in the state of Minnesota was established at St. Paul on February 14, 1879—just fifty years ago.

An average of more than 50,000 local and long distance telephone conversations take place in the United States every minute of the day.

Of the total of about $2,800,000 telephones in the world, approximately 27,500,000 or 85 per cent can be connected with the Bell System.

Thirty years ago there were 10,613 telephones in the state of Connecticut. Today there are more than twenty-nine times that number—over 300,000.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, operating in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, plans to spend the sum of $7,000,000 on extending Long Distance lines during 1929.

Direct telephone service from London to Vienna, recently established via the underground cables laid by the Austrian government from Vienna to the Austrian frontier, has improved the service so that calls can now be put through within three or four minutes.

Ting-a-ling! Ting-a-ling! The telephone rang and Br'er Rabbit answered:

"Yes, indeed—what?—yes—certainly—you don't tell me—I'd be glad to—you don't say—well, well, well—and the children, too—mercy on me—yes, right away."

The old fellow hung up the receiver and went over to where Mother Rabbit was seated. "You know," he began, "to-morrow is Easter and I was just talking to Mrs. Squirrel on the wire and she says she is going to have her children make little nests and put them all around and then the hens will lay eggs in them—colored eggs and that will be a lovely present for the darlings on Easter morning. Let's do the same. Are the dears up yet?"

"This is Saturday and I let them sleep a wee bit longer," replied Mother Rabbit.

In a few moments there was a noise upstairs and in a few minutes the two Bunnies were downstairs. Mother Rabbit outlined the plan to them and they were perfectly delighted!

Just as soon as the Bunnies had swallowed their breakfast they ran out to get the material for the nests. They came back and asked their Mother where they should put them.

"Under the trees, and in the bushes," replied Mrs. Rabbit.

In about an hour the two came back empty handed and told their Mother where they had put the nests. Then they went out to play.

Easter morning the two Bunnies were up bright and early to peek in their nests. Billie found a blue egg and Bobbie found a red one and who DO you suppose put them there?

The little hens? I wonder!

No Change in Method

Copper is tempered today in the same way as it was done in ancient times, by adding to it small amounts of tin and other metals which give it the property of hardness.

RAINY AFTERNOON PROVES IDEAL FOR CIRCLE CARD PARTY

The community hall was the scene Wednesday afternoon of a card party held under the auspices of the Pundita circle. The rain rather tended to make the room seem more cozy and hospitable. Flowers and tables with gay covers and pretty individual candy baskets made a cheerful picture.

The affair was planned to replenish the club's charity fund and they realized a neat sum.

There were a number of visitors from San Jose and Moreland clubs as well as Campbell.

Nature's Protection

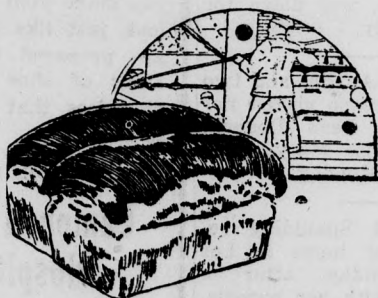

Birds have an extra eyelid which can be drawn over the eyeball to protect it from the strong sun while the proper eyelid remains open, enabling them to see.

LONDON GETS FIRST PUBLIC DIAL EXCHANGE

The Holborn exchange is the first automatic telephone exchange to be put over for public use in the city of London. Although Holborn, which is largely a business man's exchange, is the first public automatic exchange to be put into operation in London, the exchange known as Official which connects government departments and also takes calls to those departments from public exchanges, has been worked automatically since 1912. Gradually other exchanges in London will be converted over, but it is not expected that complete automatic exchanges will be in existence throughout the city until between 1940 and 1950.

"Half an inch from the telephone to be heard clearly"

When you speak clearly and distinctly into the telephone, and directly into it instead of to the room at large, and with your lips about half an inch from the mouth-piece—you are giving your voice force, dignity and carrying power.
